Partnering with the Central Library, the performance will take place Wednesday, April 2 at 7pm at the Paul O'Regan Hall.

Performance Opportunity: Seeking Two Dance Works

Mocean Dance is looking for two short dance works by Atlantic-based dance artists (up to 10 mins each) to share the evening program. Works can be in-development, using frameworks of improvisation, or fully completed. The intention is to provide more sharing platforms and opportunities for performance. The evening will include a talkback, moderated by Co-Artistic Director Sara Coffin, to create exchange and dialogue between artists and audience to share insight to creative practices and inspirations for each work.

Theme: We are looking for dance works that align with the event's theme of Spring Bloom, Dance of Life. These themes could include (but are not limited to): cycles, celebrations of life, closing and opening, tender possibilities, rising anew, and with joyful tones.

Technical information: Please note: this is an informal, low-tech performance setting. Only works with minimal set-up and low technical requirements can be considered.

Venue Information: Paul O'Reagan Hall has a smooth, unsprung floor. We will be covering it with a dance marley.
